May 20th, 2016, St Petersburg International Legal Forum

«Food Value Chains and BRICS Competition Law»

(The session is organized by the Federal Antimonopoly Service of Russia in partnership with the Skolkovo-HSE Institute for Law and Development)

The session will aim to understand the dynamics and conditions of the global food value chain, as well as the challenges the BRICS countries face in regard to the globalization of the supply chains and production in the food sector. The discussion will be focused on the challenges of accelerating economic concentration in global food markets, monopolization and irregularities of the market power in the global chains of food production and supply, as well as the impact of the ongoing processes that might affect consumer and market structure in the BRICS countries. The main focus will be on the new technological and legal forms of food production and distribution, the nature of the relationship between supply chain players - in particular between biotech seeds and fertilizer producers and farmers, between food producers and retailers, etc. A comprehensive discussion of the mentioned issues during the session allows developing the approaches to antitrust regulation of socially important and innovative markets in the BRICS countries.
